To all researchers around the world, please let us build new society based on new ideas of its all activities. IEEMS was established since 2006 and now we have 3000 professors around the world. Till now the major activity is the electronic publication through three international journals. The International eJournal of Engineering Mathematics: Theory and Application ISSN 1687-6156 is now added to Index Copernicus database, and we are going to add the other two journals in the same database. Till a certain stage of our work the membership is still free and we will be glad to accept members from different around the world.
